DRAKE MAYE SUPERFANS

FANTASY FOOTBALL DYNASTY LEAGUE | WEEK 4 COMMISSIONER REPORT | OCTOBER 6, 2026 | 12 TEAMS - 1 DYNASTY - ZERO CHILL

MARK DROPS 182.98. TIM GETS ROBBED AGAIN.

Mark owns the week's high score, Maine survives by 0.76, Cole wins a third straight, and Tim discovers that 161 points can apparently still be a losing score.

WEEK 4 FRONT PAGE	THE NUMBERS
MARK: 182.98 Highest score of Week 4. TIM: 161.36 Second-highest score. Loss. MAINE 152.30 - COLIN M 151.54 Margin: 0.76. Pure fantasy football malpractice by the universe.	3W - Cole's winning streak 0.76 - closest margin 38.92 - largest league-wide margin 88.20 - Chris M's weekly low 182.98 - Mark's weekly high

THE FRONT-PAGE STORY

Week 4 belonged to Mark. A 182.98-point eruption was the best score in the league and dragged him back to 2-2. Unfortunately for Tim, his opponent chose this exact week to become a small thermonuclear device. Tim posted 161.36 - the second-highest score on the board - and lost anyway. After putting up 155.68 in defeat last week, Tim has now scored 317.04 points across two consecutive losses. Fantasy football has stopped being subtle about hating him.

Elsewhere, Maine and Colin M produced the game of the week by a ridiculous 0.76 points, Chris W escaped John by 1.80, Mike finally snapped his two-game skid, Javier won his second straight, and Cole moved to 3-1 with a third consecutive victory. Four weeks in, the league has exactly two teams above .500. One of them is Cole. The other is Chris W, and the newspaper's legal department has advised us not to comment further.

FROM THE COMMISSIONER'S DESK

Week 4 was a useful reminder that points are fake, wins are real, and justice has no jurisdiction here. Mark can enjoy the headline. Tim can file another complaint with the Unlucky Bastard Club. Maine should avoid refreshing the stat-correction page. Chris M should avoid refreshing anything at all. And Cole, annoyingly, keeps winning.

SIDE POT FLASH

Entrants: Mike, David, Colin, Mark. Most Points Scored: Mark. Biggest Blowout: Mark. Mark won both categories and swept the Week 4 Side Pot.

WEEK 4: EVERY MATCHUP, EVERY EXCUSE

The official ledger from a week featuring two photo finishes, one 182-point eruption and another Tim tragedy.

WINNER	PTS	LOSER	PTS	COMMISSIONER'S NOTE
Mark	182.98	Tim	161.36	Tim scores 161.36 and somehow buys another loss.
Cole	154.22	David	134.52	Cole wins his third straight and keeps the throne warm.
Maine	152.30	Colin M	151.54	A 0.76-point escape. Check every stat correction twice.
Chris W	136.26	John	134.46	Chris W survives by 1.80 and moves to a deeply suspicious 3-1.
Javier	127.12	Chris M	88.20	Javier handles business; Chris M submits an 88.20 distress signal.
Mike	121.66	Colin B	115.88	Mike stops the skid and gets back to .500.

GAME OF THE WEEK - MAINE 152.30 vs. COLIN M 151.54

Margin: 0.76. This is not a football game; this is an accounting discrepancy with emotional consequences. Colin M scored 151.54 and walked away empty-handed. Maine gets the win, gets back to 2-2, and now spends the rest of Tuesday praying that no stat correction appears from the bushes.

BLOWOUT OF THE WEEK - JAVIER 127.12 vs. CHRIS M 88.20

League-wide margin: 38.92. Javier did not need fireworks. He just needed Chris M to arrive with 88.20 points and a pulse. Javier has quietly won two straight after starting 0-2. Chris M has also achieved consistency: two straight losses.

GM OF THE WEEK - MARK

182.98 points. Highest score of the week by 21.62 over the next-best lineup. Mark entered Week 4 at 1-2 and left with the week's loudest performance, a clean Side Pot sweep, and Tim's latest therapy bill. Hardware delivered.

THE UNLUCKY BASTARD CLUB - TIM, AGAIN

Week 3: 155.68 points, loss. Week 4: 161.36 points, loss. That is 317.04 points across two weeks and an 0-2 record. At this point Tim is not merely a member of the club; he has been given keys, a parking space and authority to approve new applicants.

GALAXY BRAIN

Maine wins by 0.76 and Chris W wins by 1.80. There is no strategic lesson here beyond 'score slightly more than the other guy,' which apparently remains undefeated as a fantasy football philosophy.

BONEHEAD / DISASTER DESK

Chris M's 88.20 takes the weekly low by a comfortable margin. One bad week does not define a dynasty roster, but 88.20 does qualify as a formal request for the schedule to move on immediately.

WAIVER WIRE: THE $0 ECONOMY REFUSES TO DIE

Every recorded Week 4 waiver was a $0 claim. Chris M added 4663 and dropped 11199. Maine cycled through 1737, later dropping him for 11256, while also dropping 2307. Chris W added 13277 and 4993. Cole added 8207 and 13423, dropping 13319 and 10226. John added 12718 and dropped 12547. No Week 4 FAAB was spent, because apparently the entire league has decided money is decorative.

THE BACK PAGE

Standings, side-pot money, waiver activity and the commissioner's completely scientific Week 4 read on the league.

STANDINGS AFTER WEEK 4

TEAM	REC	PF	PA	STRK
Cole	3-1	715.38	511.10	3W
Chris W	3-1	448.50	536.64	2W
Colin M	2-2	610.72	576.60	1L
Mark	2-2	606.70	563.16	1W
David	2-2	603.66	595.12	1L
Colin B	2-2	567.38	525.24	2L
Mike	2-2	548.58	559.14	1W
John	2-2	504.96	494.54	1L
Javier	2-2	485.88	529.02	2W
Maine	2-2	481.26	518.50	1W
Tim	1-3	577.88	646.28	2L
Chris M	1-3	444.46	540.02	2L

Cole and Chris W are the only teams above .500. Eight teams are 2-2. Tim and Chris M sit at 1-3. Four weeks in and the middle of the standings looks like rush-hour traffic.

POINTS LEADERBOARD

1 Cole 715.38 | 2 Colin M 610.72 | 3 Mark 606.70 | 4 David 603.66 | 5 Tim 577.88 | 6 Colin B 567.38 | 7 Mike 548.58 | 8 John 504.96 | 9 Javier 485.88 | 10 Maine 481.26 | 11 Chris W 448.50 | 12 Chris M 444.46

SIDE POT DESK - MARK TAKES EVERYTHING

Week 4 entrants: Mike, David, Colin, Mark. Most Points Scored: Mark - 182.98. Biggest Blowout: Mark. Mark won both categories and swept the Week 4 Side Pot. Everybody else goes home empty-handed.

FRAUD WATCH

Chris W is 3-1 with 448.50 points for - second-lowest in the entire league. Again, this newspaper does not make accusations. It merely prints a 3-1 record next to the scoring table and lets the citizens decide whether an investigation is warranted.

STOCK UP / STOCK DOWN

UP: Cole, Mark, Javier. Cole has won three straight and leads the league in scoring. Mark just dropped 182.98. Javier has quietly erased an 0-2 start with consecutive wins. DOWN: Tim, Chris M, Colin B. Tim cannot buy a win despite scoring, Chris M just posted the weekly low, and Colin B has followed a 2-0 start with two straight losses.

POWER RANKINGS

1 Cole - 3-1, three straight wins, 715.38 PF. 2 Mark - Week 4's 182.98-point hammer. 3 Colin M - 610.72 PF; lost by 0.76. 4 David - 603.66 PF keeps him dangerous at 2-2. 5 Tim - 577.88 PF and the league's cruelest 1-3 record. 6 Colin B - two straight losses after a 2-0 start. 7 Mike - back to .500 and back in the win column. 8 Chris W - 3-1; the math department has questions. 9 Javier - two straight wins. 10 John - 2-2 after a 1.80-point loss. 11 Maine - won the week's closest game. 12 Chris M - 88.20 has consequences.

LEAGUE CANON

Week 4 gave the inaugural season its first sub-one-point finish, turned Tim's bad luck into a recurring character, put Mark on the front page, and left eight teams deadlocked at 2-2. Cole owns the scoring lead and the best winning streak. Chris W owns a 3-1 record nobody can fully explain. The middle class has swallowed the league.

COMMISSIONER'S FINAL WORD

Four weeks down. Two teams above .500, two teams below it, and eight managers sitting directly in the blast radius at 2-2. Nobody has separated. Nobody is safe. Week 5 is where a cute start begins turning into an actual season. Set the lineup, check the injuries, and somebody please buy Tim a rabbit's foot.