FANTASY FOOTBALL DYNASTY LEAGUE | WEEK 3 COMMISSIONER REPORT | SEPTEMBER 29, 2026 | 12 TEAMS - 1 DYNASTY - ZERO CHILL

COLE GOES NUCLEAR

210.70 points. An 84.34-point demolition. Two straight wins. Week 3 belonged to Cole - while David quietly walked away with every dollar available in the side pot.

WEEK 3 COMMISSIONER REPORT
SEPTEMBER 23, 2026

COLE GOES NUCLEAR

Drops 210.70 and absolutely annihilates Chris M in Week 3

ABSOLUTE DESTRUCTION

210.70

+84.34 MARGIN

HIGHEST SCORE OF THE SEASON

TWO STRAIGHT WINS

CHRIS M 126.36

210.70

G.M. OF THE WEEK

210.70

COLE

A historic performance. 210.70 points and an 84.34 point beatdown. This is what fantasy dominance looks like.

BIGGEST WINNER

DAVID 163.82

Second highest score of the week, takes down Tim, and sweeps the Week 3 side pot. 2-1 and rolling.

BIGGEST LOSER

CHRIS M 126.36

Walked into Week 3 and got hit with a 210.70 from Cole. Brutal. Just when you think you're in it, fantasy humbles you real quick.

GAME OF THE WEEK

MAINE 93.36 vs CHRIS W 95.42

A grinder. A 2.06 point finish. Maine comes up just short while Chris W sneaks away with the win.

UNLUCKY BASTARD CLUB

MIKE

Puts up 148.80 and still loses. That stings. Two straight losses and he's now 1-2. Brutal luck to start the season.

SIDE POT REPORT WEEK 3: DAVID SWEEPS IT

SIDE POT PARTICIPANTS: DAVID & MIKE

HIGH SCORE: DAVID (163.82)

WINNING MARGIN: DAVID (8.14)

DAVID TAKES BOTH SIDES AND CLEANS UP IN WEEK 3. MIKE GOES HOME EMPTY HANDED.

WAIVER WIRE RECAP

"I saw 2306 at the top of the list and knew I had to grab him. Sorry boys."
- COLE

- 1 Cole added 2306 (FAAB $0) - dropped 13268
- 2 Cole added 6828 (FAAB $0) - dropped 12498
- 3 Maine added 2307 (FAAB $0) - dropped 5854
- 4 Javier tried to claim 2306 - failed (claimed by Cole)
- 5 Maine also tried to claim 2306 - failed (claimed by Cole)
- 6 Chris M dropped 8800 to free agency

No trades this week. All successful claims were for $0 FAAB.

LEAGUE STORYLINES

- 1 Cole puts the league on notice with 210.70.
- 2 David starts 2-1 and takes the side pot.
- 3 Colin M edges out Mike in a high-scoring thriller.
- 4 John stays hot and moves to 2-1.
- 5 Javier picks up his first win.
- 6 Maine continues to search for his first win.

NEXT UP: WEEK 4 | SAME CHAOS. SAME TRASH TALK. | LONG LIVE THE DRAKE MAYE SUPERFANS.

THE FRONT-PAGE STORY

Cole did not beat Chris M. Cole turned Chris M into a cautionary tale. The 210.70 outburst was 46.88 points clear of the next-best score this week and pushed Cole to a league-leading 561.46 points through three games. Chris M's 126.36 was not catastrophic in a vacuum; unfortunately, this game was played inside a volcano.

Meanwhile, Mike scored 148.80 and still lost to Colin M by 3.80. Tim somehow did even better - 155.68 - and lost to David. If you are looking for fairness, you have wandered into the wrong publication.

WEEK 3: EVERY MATCHUP, EVERY EXCUSE

The official ledger from a week in which 150 points apparently became a suggestion rather than a winning score.

WINNER	PTS	LOSER	PTS	COMMISSIONER'S NOTE
David	163.82	Tim	155.68	David survives a shootout and moves to 2-1.
Colin M	152.60	Mike	148.80	Mike's 148.80 buys him absolutely nothing.
John	116.76	Mark	107.20	John handles business; Mark falls to 1-2.
Javier	145.64	Colin B	128.50	Javier gets his first win and hands Colin B his first loss.
Chris W	95.42	Maine	93.36	A 2.06-point rock fight. Chris W escapes.
Cole	210.70	Chris M	126.36	Please respect the crime-scene tape.

GAME OF THE WEEK - MAINE 93.36 vs. CHRIS W 95.42

The final margin was 2.06 points, which is close enough that every start/sit decision becomes a federal investigation. Maine had a 20.00-point player on the bench and lost by two. Chris W does not care how ugly it looked; the standings only print the W.

BLOWOUT OF THE WEEK - COLE 210.70 vs. CHRIS M 126.36

Margin: 84.34. Nothing more needs to be said, but this newspaper has column inches to fill, so: good Lord.

GM OF THE WEEK - COLE

A 210.70-point lineup earns the hardware. Cole also used waiver priority to land player 2306 on a $0 claim while Javier and Maine submitted failed $0 claims for the same player. He won Sunday and then won the waiver line. Obnoxious efficiency.

MONDAY NIGHT FALLOUT

Mike finishes with 148.80 and a loss. Tim finishes with 155.68 and a loss. Somewhere, a fantasy analyst is explaining variance while both managers throw things at the television.

THE UNLUCKY BASTARD CLUB

Mike: 148.80, loss by 3.80. Tim: 155.68, loss by 8.14. Membership is automatic, non-refundable, and accompanied by the strong urge to tell everyone what your score would have beaten in the other matchups.

GALAXY BRAIN

Cole: 210.70 plus winning the contested $0 waiver claim for 2306. There are weeks when every button you press works. This was apparently one of them.

BONEHEAD OF THE WEEK

Maine: losing by 2.06 while a 20.00-point score sat outside the Week 3 starting lineup. That's the kind of box score you close, reopen, stare at, close again, and then blame the app.

THE BACK PAGE

Standings, side-pot money, waiver carnage and the commissioner's completely scientific power rankings.

STANDINGS AFTER WEEK 3

TEAM	REC	PF	PA	STRK
Cole	2-1	561.46	376.58	2W
David	2-1	469.14	440.90	2W
Colin M	2-1	459.18	424.30	1W
Colin B	2-1	451.50	403.58	1L

Chris M	1-2	356.26	412.90	1L
Maine	1-2	328.96	366.96	2L

Six teams at 2-1. Six teams at 1-2. The league has achieved perfect symmetry and absolutely no clarity.

FINAL POINTS LEADERBOARD

1 Cole 561.46 | 2 David 469.14 | 3 Colin M 459.18 | 4 Colin B 451.50 | 5 Mike 426.92 | 6 Mark 423.72 | 7 Tim 416.52 | 8 John 370.50 | 9 Javier 358.76 | 10 Chris M 356.26 | 11 Maine 328.96 | 12 Chris W 312.24

SIDE POT DESK - DAVID TAKES EVERYTHING

Week 3 participants: DAVID and MIKE only. David wins both sides: High Score - David, 163.82; Winning Margin - David, +8.14. Mike's 148.80 would normally make for a respectable side-pot showing, except David won his matchup and Mike did not. David sweeps the board. Mike goes home empty-handed.

WAIVER WIRE

Cole added 2306 for $0 and dropped 13268, then added 6828 for $0 and dropped 12498. Maine added 2307 for $0 and dropped 5854. Javier and Maine both tried to claim 2306 for $0 but lost on priority to Cole. Chris M later dropped 8800 to free agency. No trades. No Week 3 FAAB spent. Plenty of quiet resentment.

FRAUD WATCH

Chris W: 2-1 with 312.24 total points, the lowest PF in the league. This is not an accusation. It is simply the newspaper printing the numbers and allowing the public to reach its own extremely disrespectful conclusions.

STOCK UP / STOCK DOWN

UP: Cole, David, Javier. Cole owns the scoring lead; David has two straight wins and the side-pot sweep; Javier finally breaks through with 145.64. DOWN: Mike, Maine, Chris M. Mike has two straight losses despite 426.92 PF, Maine lost the closest game of the week, and Chris M just spent Sunday underneath a 210-point avalanche.

POWER RANKINGS

1 Cole - 561.46 PF says enough. 2 David - 2W streak and cash in hand. 3 Colin M - survived 148.80. 4 Colin B - first loss, still strong PF. 5 Mike - record is ugly; scoring isn't. 6 John - quietly 2-1. 7 Tim - 155.68 in defeat. 8 Mark - 423.72 PF, only one win. 9 Javier - signs of life. 10 Chris M - wrong place, wrong week. 11 Chris W - 2-1 on vibes and defensive magic. 12 Maine - the 20-point bench score is going in the file.

LEAGUE CANON

Week 3 gave the inaugural season its first 200-point explosion, its first truly grotesque blowout, and a new rule of thumb: 150 is not safe. Cole owns the headline. David owns the side pot. Mike and Tim own the receipts proving fantasy football is cruel.

COMMISSIONER'S FINAL WORD

No undefeated teams. No winless teams. Half the league is 2-1 and half is 1-2. Week 4 is where the standings start becoming personal. Set your lineups, check your inactives, and if you score 150 and lose, the Unlucky Bastard Club meets Tuesday mornings. Coffee is not provided.
